FileTally

Count the folder. Check the details.

Local document counting for Windows, Mac, iPad and iPhone

Platform availability

Windows	Available now - Windows 10 and 11, 64-bit, direct and Microsoft Store
Mac	Available now - macOS 14 or later, signed and notarized download iPad	Coming soon - App Store
iPhone	Coming soon - App Store

FileTally 1.0 for Windows and Mac

Count mixed files

PDF, Word, Excel, PowerPoint, multi-page TIFF, JPG, PNG and BMP images, MSG and EML email, and text. Supported files inside ZIP archives are counted in place. No Microsoft Office needed.

Review the coverage

Counted and estimated pages stay separate and add up to the total. Excluded files are listed with the reason, never counted as zero. Spreadsheet pages are estimated from each sheet's used range; cells are reported beside the total, never as pages.

Save the result

Every scan is saved and can be reopened. Export one row per file as CSV for Excel or JSONL for scripts, or use the included command line. Source documents are never modified.

Keep document processing local

Document content is not uploaded for counting, and no AI reads it. No account is needed. A license activates online once on each computer, then works offline.

Direct purchase

Seven-day full-feature trial. Solo license: $24.99 once for all the Windows PCs and Macs the buyer owns or controls, with updates included and no expiry. App Store versions will be bought separately through Apple.